Wage-Earner And House Owner Held Not Indigents

Town And County Save
$176 By Refusal To Pay
Hospital Bills

Two indigent accounts from the Toronto General Hospital were disputed by the town, some time ago, and the town was upheld in both cases in judgments given last week. N. L. Mathews, K. C., town solicitor, defended the two actions which were brought against the county by the hospital.

The amount involved was $176. J. D. Lucas, county solicitor, represented the county but left the defence to Mr. Mathews.

"These were test cases, and the decisions are very important to the town and the county," said Mr. Mathews.

Judge Denton in division court found that neither party was indigent. In one case the patient was the wife of a wage-earner, who was working steadily at the time of his wife's admission to hospital, earning $18 to $20 a week.

The other patient was a lady who owned a house in Newmarket, valued at $2,800, subject to a $900 mortgage, and whose husband, with whom she was not living, owned a house which he subsequently sold for $1,100, subject to a $300 mortgage and taxes.

High School Vocational Wing Move Held In Doubt

Time To Prepare For Vote Reeve Dales Tells Town Council

Doubt exists as to where responsibility rests for taking up again the question of the high school vocational wing debentures, it was revealed at the town council meeting Monday evening.

"We should do something about the high school debenture by-law vote," said Reeve Dr. L. W. Dales. "It is up to the high school board," replied Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd.

"They left it with us," said Dr. Dales. "They asked us to arrange a vote at the time of the municipal election."

"They may have changed their minds since then," suggested Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale.

Started With Three Last Year, Now Have 14
Animals

Sleek black mink are the interesting and likely to be profitable backyard hobby of Wm. Lane and his son, Cameron Lane, Andrew St.

Starting last year with three animals, purchased from Jack Smith, Queensville, they now have 14. Among the three were two females. Each bore six young this year, and the Lanes, with a helping hand from Mr. Smith, have been successful in raising them all. They lost one of the original two females.

Each animal is kept in a separate run, with a little portable house at one end in which it may be imprisoned and moved to an-

A good average mink is said to be worth about $15, but whether you make or lose money all depends on your luck and skill in raising the lively little creatures.

Deputy-Reeve Gets His Way Refuses To Hear By-Law

Town May Purchase Dupli-cator, As Result Of Deputy's Objection

When Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale demanded copies for each member of council of a long electric light by-law before the council on Monday evening, N. L. Mathews, K. C., clerk and solicitor, replied that the town would have to buy a duplicating machine.

"What would one cost?" asked Reeve Dr. L. W. Dales.

"I imagine we could buy a used one for $200," said Mr. Mathews.

Mr. Vale said that he couldn't understand a technical by-law by hearing it read once, and opposed second and third reading being rushed through.

"I move that the by-law be taken as read the first time, and that copies be provided all the members of the council to study," said Mr. Vale. "Reading the by-law is a waste of time."

Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd said that if Mr. Vale would permit reading of the by-law for the benefit of the other members of the council, Mr. Vale could have the copy of the by-law to study and it could be brought in for second and third reading at the next meeting.

Mr. Vale still insisted that reading the by-law even once was a waste of time. Councillor Wm. Dixon said that he too would like to study the by-law. Finally, it was agreed to take the

YORK COUNTY JUNIOR FARMERS WIN TROPHY

In the inter-county ploughing competition at the international ploughing match held at Mine-sing last week, the Junior Farmers of York county again carried off premier honors, winning the trophy for the third time, making two of these beautiful trophies which the county has won outright. The present cup was won in 1934 and 1935 and was brought home this year by the agricultural representative, W. M. Cockburn, and his team of three young men consisting of Herbert Jarvis of Milliken, Andrew McClure of Woodbridge, and Roy Smith of Gormley.

With 18 counties competing, there were 54 boys plowing, all under 20 years of age. Jarvis stood second in individual score and McClure third. Both were also in the money the previous day in the open classes and again on Friday.

The team will be guests of honor at the Junior Farmer banquet at Vellore on Nov. 4 to conclude the home ploughing competition which will be judged next week.

by-law as read and to lend the two available copies to Mr. Vale and Mr. Dixon for study before the next council meeting.

It was tentatively decided to include a duplicating machine in next year's estimates.

UNIQUE GIFT CARDS INCLUDE LOCAL PHOTOS

Distinctively Newmarket and district Christmas cards are being made this year by R. B. Green, gifted amateur photographer.

Each deckle-edged folder carries a beautiful signed photograph, which may be detached from the rest of the card and mounted. The cards include a wide variety of scenes, mostly of the Newmarket district. Several of the photographs are close-ups of flowers and plants, and are particularly attractive. Some winter scenes are among the selection.

Mr. Green has made these beautiful Christmas cards as a hobby, and is taking orders for them at prices which amount to little more than the cost of materials. Anyone who is interested in seeing these cards, may do so at The Era office.

ACCEPT IDEAS FROM ANYONE FOR REUNION

Committees To Be Submitted To Meeting For Approval

There will be a meeting of all those interested in the old boys' reunion, in the town hall, on Monday at 8.15 p.m. The officers elected at the last meeting will submit a slate of committees for approval.

Dr. S. J. Boyd, mayor, has issued the following message to the citizens of Newmarket regarding the old boys' reunion:

"One evening last week some of the leading citizens got together and decided to hold an old boys' reunion in 1939. At this meeting the dates were decided upon, being the last day of June and the first three days of July. While at this meeting these dates were selected and an organization to head up the reunion was partially agreed upon. Most of the important arrangements are yet to be made. I believe that most of our citizens are going to become intensely interested in this reunion. We are all very anxious to see it put over in a masterly and successful manner."

"I take this opportunity to invite you to a meeting in the town hall, Monday evening, Oct. 24, at 8.15 o'clock. Many of you have ideas as to how an old boys' reunion should be organized and conducted, so I urge you to come to this meeting and give us the benefit of your advice. The business men of the town will derive considerable financial benefit from so many visitors coming and spending money freely, but aside from the business profit we all expect to derive a great deal of pleasure from this huge social event."

"Come to the meeting on Monday night and get us away to a good start."

Newmarket Reeve Urges Restoration Of Contract

Dr. Dales Elected Vice-President, Highway
Association Meets

"This highway would pay for itself in five years by the tourist traffic, but the government is keeping us from tapping this gold mine," complained Newmarket's reeve, Dr. L. W. Dales, at a meeting of the Central Ontario Highway Association last Friday night, protesting against the government's action of cancelling contracts for roadwork east of Port Perry.

"It is amazing to me, that a government, having a signed contract, can come along and slap our faces," said Dr. Dales, discussing the opposition which had developed to the Peterboro-Port Perry-Orangeville highway. "But if we don't get it now, we'll not get it in this generation."

"Dual highways and expensive lighting! That's where your money is going. I say give us a chance up there. Give us a break for the thousands of dollars we're pouring into the highways of the south."

The meeting passed a resolution calling for immediate reinstatement of the construction contract from Port Perry east and the setting as the first objective in this area the completion of the Port Perry-Peterboro division of the Central Ontario highway.

Reorganization of the central division of the association was undertaken.

TEN BUSHELS OF MULLOCK'S APPLES SOLD

Scouts Become Enthusiastic Apple Salesmen For Whole Day

Brilliant red apples from the orchards of W. P. Mullock, M. P., to the number of 1,700, were sold to the people of Newmarket last Saturday. There were ten bushels of apples sold, some snows and some McIntoshes, but all beautiful apples.

From 6.30 a.m. in the morning until 8 p.m. the Boy Scouts from the four local troops were canvassing the town. The generous response of the citizens and the whole-hearted co-operation of all the boys brought the gross receipts for the day to $102, with the help of a generous cheque for $15 from the Davis Leather Co.

Using The Era office as a headquarters, the apples were carried into all sections of the town. Refills were taken by boys on bicycles. Cash boxes were provided by the manual training classes of Principal H. A. Jackson of the public schools.

The headquarters staff consisted of Don Elnes, Jim Cullen and Jack Peppatt. The different troops were organized by Frank Hope, Jack Malcolm and B. A. Budd. D. O. Mungovan, secretary of the Scouts Association, arranged the apple day and headed up the organization.

Tommy Dales proved to be the best apple salesman, disposing of 140 apples and countless sales talks in the course of the day. Others were close behind. All the youngsters put in a hard day's work but were well pleased that they had put across Newmarket's first apple day so successfully.

The boys taking part included G. Cockburn, E. Burroughs, R. McElroy, V. Thompson, D. Cockburn, G. Tunney, A. Douglas, J. Jones, M. McCaffrey, T. McRae, E. Callaghan, J. Hunter, K. Budd, D. At the previous council meeting Wm. Curtis asked that the town improve this lane leading to his house.

Transformers Burn Out With Overload

Niagara St. Householders Lack Power For Nearly Five Hours

Bearing out warnings that transformers were overloaded, given earlier in the year by Councillor W. W. Osborne, chairman of the water and light committee, and C. C. Rachar, electrical foreman, two serious breakdowns occurred on Saturday.

The first breakdown occurred at 12.45 p.m. and left the Niagara-Queen district without power until 4.30 p.m. The cause was the burning out of an overloaded transformer. This was an old transformer and will cost about $200 to replace.

The second breakdown occurred on Saturday evening on Main St. when merchants were seriously inconvenienced and lost an amount of business which it is impossible to estimate. Clothing and dry goods merchants suffered most. Main St. store lights from Bolton's Bakery down to Cousins' Dairy were out from 9.30 to 11.50 p.m.

The theatre had to close down, without giving the second show, and had to turn away a full house, returning ticket money to a large number.

Members of the council asked for an explanation of the Main St. breakdown at a meeting on Monday evening.

Councillor Osborne read the following statement prepared by Mr. Rachar: "A survey of the load on Main St., affected Saturday evening, shows that there is a connected load of 232 kilowatts of commercial services exclusive of domestic services. The actual load on this bank of 100 kilowatts capacity was 207 kilowatts."

"The carrying of overloads of 100 per cent or better gradually carbonizes the insulation between turns in the coils until such a condition develops that there is a short circuit within the coil. This condition reached the climax in one transformer, blowing out the fuse, dumping the load back on the other transformers, which in turn blew the respective fuses until the last one on the bank burned off the secondary leads."

"A temporary measure would be to install at least two more 25 kilowatt transformers and divide this bank up so as not to affect such a large portion of Main St. at one time. This would give us 150 kilowatts of transformer capacity to carry the load but does not allow for much increase in load."

"That is an overload of over 100 per cent," commented Mr. Osborne. "Did you know it was overloaded?" asked Reeve Dr. L. W. Dales.

"Most of that overload has been put on this year," said Mr. Osborne. "Several stores have been fixed up with additional lights."

"Don't you know about an overload until the transformers burn out?" asked Councillor Wm. Dixon.

"A breakdown one Saturday night 12 years ago cost us $1,000," recalled Mr. Osborne.

Mr. Osborne said that the Main St. situation was typical of 90 per cent of the transformer loads in the corporation.

"We reported on this condition in the spring," stated Mr. Rachar. "Aren't transformers made to carry 100 per cent overloads?" asked Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale.

"No," said Mr. Rachar. "What is the total cost of this burn-out?" asked Dr. Dales.

"I would say $300," said Mr. Rachar.

"We must remember that we have had 12 years use out of this transformer," said Dr. Dales. "We want to buy a new one," said Mr. Osborne.

"Buy two," said Dr. Dales. "It will mean that," said Mr. Rachar.

"Why do that?" asked Mr. Vale. "One carried us for 12 years."

"We have to protect Main St.," said Dr. Dales. "The merchants lost $300 business on Saturday night."

"The load has increased 50 kilowatts since I came to town," said Mr. Rachar.

"Let us carry a spare 25 kilowatt transformer," said Mr. Osborne.

"I am going to insist that you get what you need," said Dr. Dales.

"Get whatever you have to have," said Dr. Boyd.

"I don't think the merchants really lost any business," said Mr. Osborne. "The people went down just to see what the candle-light was like."

Mr. Osborne reported that changes had been made which were giving York county hospital more efficient service.

Mr. Osborne reported with regard to water services without meters. There were a number of outdoor services where it was impossible to install a meter, he said, and there were a few users without meters who should have them.

"We want a report on the users whose meters are out of order," said Councillor Dixon. "There are meters in this town that have not been working for one or two years."

Mr. Osborne said that users who should have meters would be required to install them, and that the town was continually repairing meters which were out of order.

New Six-Man Rugby Goes Over Big With N.H.S. Boys

League Starts Next Week
For Senior Rugby
Squad

The senior rugby squad at Newmarket high school is working out daily under the supervision of Coach Harry Westbrook. Today the boys are having a scrim practice with Pickering.

The first game is at Willowdale with Earl Haig on Monday or Tuesday. Pickering is not putting a senior team in the league this year, and that leaves Newmarket and Willowdale to fight it out.

Although he has only four of last year's stalwarts to build his team around, Coach Westbrook considers the material extra good. The last year men are Denno Bosworth, Mervin Pirth, Bob Dales and George Johns.

Harvey Graham is coaching the junior team which has already had a couple of scrim practices with Pickering.

The new six-man rugby has made its appearance at N. H. S. Three senior teams are playing a series with each other and three junior teams are playing. Each team consists of three line men and three backfield men.

HOW SAVE DEMOCRACY?

How are we to preserve democracy? Can we really preserve democracy by increasing armaments, by improving our military defences, by furnishing arguments for others to increase their defences too? Or is there any other way to help democracy? Is the only alternative not to arm, not to prepare to defend ourselves? It seems to us that the answer to these questions depends a good deal on what we understand by democracy.

Where Democracy Isn't

We are agreed that there is not democracy in a country where there is not government by elected representatives, where there is not a free press in which citizens may criticize their government, where there are not schools where honest men and women may teach according to their own honesty and not necessarily according to the philosophy of their government. Some of us will go further and say that there is no real democracy where economic power is in the hands of minorities, for people are coming more and more to believe that economic power is greater than political power. Few would really great political power in a "democratic" country, for politicians must be to a great extent guided by the criticism of their opponents and the insatiable demands of their supporters, but many men wield great economic power. Every employer, every board of directors, every manager of a business has a power which, it seems to us, is more real and more likely to be abused than the power of a politician. The private individual, the private business, is not subject to the criticism which politicians must face and answer, and often individuals at the head of great businesses may make changes of policy affecting thousands without consulting anyone, whereas the politician must be able to persuade legislatures or constituents that what he has done is best.

We Look To The Schools

Some of us will go still further and say that there is no real democracy in a country where, though we may be free to hold and express whatever opinions we wish, our educational system is such that we all think pretty much alike, or where our education is such that in moments of panic we can all be made to scrap conclusions reached in saner moments for an hysterical mass opinion. It seems to us that democracy should be preserved in the schools. With the tremendous improvement in the means of communication, and the speeding up of communications, and particularly with the almost universal use of the radio, a democratic education, as a protection against mass hysteria, has become more important than ever it was. Our schools should produce boys and girls who think not necessarily as capitalists, nor necessarily as socialists, or necessarily as militarists, or as pacifists, but boys and girls who are accustomed to hear popular and unpopular points of view well expressed and are still able to stick to the point of view that seems to themselves to be best.

Communism Should Be Ably Advocated

If communism is a bad thing, then we should certainly expose our school children to communist ideas, and to answers to the communist ideas. If capitalism is really a good thing, then our school children should hear all that can be said against it as well as all that can be said for it. If militarism is a good thing then our school children should hear all that can be said against it. If it is a bad thing, they should hear all that can be said for it. If they do not hear these conflicting viewpoints when they are young, if they do not learn to hear and resist convincing arguments, if they do not learn to think their own way through the controversial problems of the day, there can be no real democracy. Our school children should not discuss merely the questions of the days of Caesar and of Cromwell, but also the questions of our own day. Our teachers should be given a freer hand, and not be subjected to criticism whenever they have sufficient initiative to organize a debate on communism or patriotism or pacifism. Good causes cannot be injured by deep-going discussion.

A Real Democracy

It may be supposed that our idea of a democracy is therefore a country in which the citizens do not think alike. There will be more real agreement in a country whose citizens are accustomed to the give and take of debate, and more real harmony in a country whose citizens, however differently they may think, cannot be stampeded by demagogues. Our idea of a democracy is a country whose citizens respect the principle of the rule of the majority and are sufficiently alert intellectually that the majority really do rule. We do not suppose that there are many democracies in the world today. Russia is probably ruled in the interests of a majority, but it is certainly not ruled by a majority. The United States is ruled by a minority of industrialists, financiers, and political bosses. We do not know sufficient about the much-praised Scandinavian countries to say that they are democracies. But we do believe that here in Canada, if we would give our teachers freedom to educate our children contentiously, we could have in a generation one of the greatest democracies in all history. We believe that teachers should be put in a position of as much independence as judges in permanence of appointment and in remuneration according to qualifications. We believe that money (which does not try to dictate to the teachers) spent on education will do more than money spent on armaments to make the world safe for democracy, though that proposition could be debated.

HIGH SCHOOL TRAGEDY

There is a little more to the problem of high school education than the frequently made point about fitting round pegs into square holes. This perfectly good argument in favor of vocational high schools, which cannot come too soon, may becloud the fact that there are many children who do not go to high school for reasons other than that they are not interested in a matriculation course. When the vocational high schools get going there will still be a lot of boys and girls who are not going to high school at all. The fault may lie with the parents, or public school teachers, that they have not made the boy or girl see the vital importance to himself or herself of getting as much education as possible. Wherever the fault lies, it is tragic that there are so many boys and girls, with no sense that they are making a short-sighted decision, not going on to high school, or blithely dropping out before they are half through. There are real obstacles in the way of most young people going on to university, but there are no insuperable obstacles in the way of any northern York county boy or girl taking advantage of the free and invaluable opportunities for a better education provided at the public expense. It is an opportunity that will not come again later in life.

WRITE US A LINE

With an old home week scheduled for next summer, it is not too soon to ask readers, either here in old York county, or away in distant parts, to write of early memories of Newmarket for publication. If you are away from the old home, would you like to attend a reunion next summer? Would you write telling of what you are doing now, of early memories of Newmarket, of the whereabouts of other Newmarket people you know? Let's make The Era more interesting this year with more news of the doings and achievements of Newmarket people abroad.

CONSERVATIVE LEADERSHIP

Of the candidates principally mentioned for the provincial Conservative leadership we like Leopold Macaulay. He seems to have the most winning personality, and it seems to us that human qualities are the prime essentials in a political leader. Others prefer George Drew, a military man of great intellectual capacity and confidence, and others Wm. J. Stewart, the efficient and fearless former mayor of Toronto.

THIS AUTUMN BUSINESS

Autumn is the final triumphant note of the summer symphony. There is a blare of glorious color, more joyous than all the sweetness of summer, but foretelling the coming of winter. Nothing is here for tears. Fortunate are they to whom it is given to die "in the autumn of life." By that we understand not just that a man or woman was old, but that he or she had lived a full life, a green summer of struggle and growth, and had reached a time of dwindling strength but of kindling joy.

THE ROYAL VISIT

If King George and Queen Elizabeth come to Canada next spring, as is now planned, their visit will be the biggest event of the year in Canada, and the biggest event of many a year. Never have ruling British sovereigns visited their largest overseas dominion. Never has there been such good reason for the ruling sovereigns to visit Canada. During the reign of King George V the relationship of Canada to the sovereign changed. At the beginning of his reign Canada was a colony, a self-governing colony it is true, but nevertheless a colony communicating with the sovereign through the British government. At the end of the reign Canada had become an equal partner with Britain in the British Commonwealth of Nations, with the Canadian government communicating direct with the king through the governor-general. Canada has become one of the British kingdoms.

A True Fairy Story

Kings and kingdoms are old-fashioned, reminiscent of fairy stories. That is true, and yet strangely enough the British people never felt so unanimously about the value of a king even in the days when kings were not old-fashioned. Successful forms of government are usually the result of growth, and the British form of government is about the best example there is of a form of government that has just grown. It has revealed adaptability to change and the ability to grow, and it is not likely to be scrapped lightly for some modern scientific form of government.

FIRST LOG SCHOOL

Newmarket public-school children are working on a local history project this year. A couple of youngsters are going to build a replica of Newmarket's first log school, which, they say, used to stand near the present Alexander Muir school. There is no more interesting approach to the history of Canada and of other parts of the world than through the history of our own little corner. When we begin to study the nineteenth century through our own grandparents' and great-grandparents' eyes, history becomes a vivid story. Incidentally, the local history project will work in very nicely with the Newmarket old boys' reunion.

ECONOMY AND ROYALTY

When we gave Premier Hepburn a blessing when he did away with the expense of Chorley Park, we never dreamed (neither did Mr. Hepburn) that the royal family would be coming to Canada and would as a consequence have to sleep in their railway car when they visited Toronto. We wonder how Toronto will feel about it.

DOVE OF TRADE

Anthony Eden's proposals for a strong all-party government, to give democracy the strength of fascism as well as its own strength, are likely to win substantial approval in soul-troubled Britain. Mr. Eden is statesmanlike in combining with his proposals a plank for the encouragement of international trade and the reduction of tariffs. Trade is a two-sided transaction. Both parties benefit, and neither party is quite as anxious to quarrel with the other as if they weren't doing business together. It is to be hoped that the Canadian government's trade agreement with the United States will go a long way toward removing the tariff barriers along that boundary, an even more imaginary line than the equator itself.

The Common Round

GETTING READY FOR THE FUTURE

There is, I suppose, implanted in every one of us, an urge to provide for the future.

We picture an old age without friends, without interests, and without the wherewithal to provide the necessities of life, and we shudder to think, that unless we do something about it, such may be OUR lot.

We've been watching our squirrels these days, for after a squirrelless year, they have returned to us, and now as the cones from the spruce trees and the great chestnut burrs, are thick on the ground, they are busy with their harvesting operations. There is a large black squirrel and a tiny red one, and naturally one would think that the black one would be the boldest. But, oh no! the black one grabs a cone and flees as if pursued by hunters; not so the red. Up on the tree he sits, and from the safe vantage point of a slender limb, he uses language to the cats, which, I am sure, should be written in asterisks, and not satisfied with that, rains down spiky chestnuts and cones, on their too inquisitive noses.

It's funny to see how the squirrels' industry is reflected in all humans. Men are digging in the earth, harvesting the root crop; or swaying in apple trees, garnering the fruits of the earth—so that in due time we may enjoy them.

And in the house, we women make our last stand on the firing line—in our case the kitchen stove—and concoct last minute sauces, in my own case, some of these so very experimental, that one wonders in a sort of daze, what the reaction of the family will be, when it encounters these alien messes.

I tried one the other day which was rather good—at least the family tribunal pronounced in its favor. As it can be made right now, I'll pass it on for your consideration.

1 large cabbage
12 large cooking apples
3 chili peppers—seeded
Put all through the coarse knife of the food chopper, add 2½ cups white wine vinegar, 3 cups brown sugar, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 tablespoon celery seed, 2 tablespoons mustard.

Let come to a boil and boil steadily for 30 minutes.

The cats are putting on their winter clothing—thick satiny fur coats—and are enjoying these lovely days with no thought of the morrow; but we too are looking up our furs, maybe shaking our heads sadly over a moth hole, where no hole should be, and wondering whether this or that will do another winter, or be replaced with the money saved for new curtains for the living room, or a hat which looked as if it might stay put without glue.

We look to the coal bin or the wood pile, and vision the cosy evenings round the glowing fire which they promise.

We look over our book cases and our music, and wonder if we can squeeze out a little cash for a new book or two, and some new music—these not only for this winter, but for many a winter, for some books and some music grow friendlier with the years, and as I said before, we are all trying to lay up a little treasure for the future—some for the near, some for the more distant, which, if we live, we must face.

And we look round at our friends—they are not for time alone—they are for eternity, if we believe that death is just a door into another life—and so we have to choose them carefully, if they are to be treasure laid up for the future.

Friendship shouldn't be a perishable thing—here today and gone tomorrow. It is a treasure, along with the beautiful things we have seen, the good and wonderful things we have read, the kind things which have been done for us and said to us, and that we have had the opportunity of doing and saying, these are not for time, but for eternity.

And we look at our talents, for there isn't one of us who hasn't some gift peculiarly his own.

We may not have made use of it, but perhaps in taking stock of our assets for a happy future, we drag it from its hiding place and make it work for us.

And always there are our jobs—whatever thing we are doing to earn the right to live. We may be able to do them just a little better than we had thought we could, and if we can, the result should be two-fold material gain and mental satisfaction, a feeling of satisfaction over work well done, when the time comes that we cannot work any more, and the possibility that increased efficiency may bring its own reward in a material sense.

So we go on, providing for the future—no one knows what it holds—but it can be provided with pleasant memories—that's up to us.

Chickadee," replied the bird, laughing. "I assure you that my voice is a family heritage that is handed down from generation to generation. I am very proud of it. However, I don't mind telling you that we're seed eaters. We destroy a great many weed seeds. We also eat a good many insects, though, and occasionally a little wild fruit for variety. I am particularly fond of ragweed, and that, of course, is very plentiful at this time of year."

"I guess you don't suffer from hay-fever then," put in Young Chips. "I understand that ragweed is one of the greatest enemies of the hay-fever sufferer."

"Hay-fever victims should certainly love the White-throated Sparrows, then," said Merry.

"Well, we've always been very well liked as a family," the White-throat told them modestly. "But then, so have the Chickadees."

POLICE COURT Aurora Man Takes Chance

Two charges of reckless driving and drunk driving laid against Clayton Scott, Toronto, were adjourned one week, at police court on Tuesday. Bail of $500 was renewed. The charges were laid by Chief Constable James Sloss, Newmarket.

An adjournment of one week was given to Harold S. Nesbitt, Toronto, who was also charged with reckless driving and driving while intoxicated.

The charges made by game warden Ernest Prosser against Fred Humphrey and Bert Hackson, both of Toronto, for hunting on Sunday, were adjourned one week.

A fine of $1 and costs, or two days, was imposed on Walter Mayne, East York, for driving without a tail-light. County Constable Ronald Watt testified that he followed the truck for half a mile and that the tail-light was out and that the license plates couldn't be read six feet away.

For driving with a 60-day permit. Instead of an operator's license, Stanley Ellis, East Gwillimbury township, was fined $10 and costs, or ten days.

After having his driver's license suspended in September for reckless driving, I. L. Heacock, Aurora, was found driving a car again, according to a charge laid by Chief Constable Fisher Dunham of Aurora. The magistrate imposed a fine of $25 and costs, or ten days, for the offence. The accused stated that he had just recently obtained a job and being able to drive was essential. The magistrate informed him that when his license was suspended he must not drive, and would not allow him time to pay the fine.

"You don't deserve any sympathy," the magistrate told Heacock. "You committed the offence and were warned and then you go back and do it again."

A charge of speeding laid against the owner of the Cedar Harbour Store, Stroud, was dismissed. The owner said that he went through Aurora but not at the time stated by Constable F. Dunham.

"I am sure that I was not going over 30 m. p. h. through Aurora because I am always very careful going through there," stated the owner. "I have heard of the record of Aurora and several customers have complained to me about the fines they have received for speeding in the town. One customer even refused to buy goods manufactured in Aurora."

"I am dismissing the charge because of the difference in time and not for the other things you have told me," the magistrate told the manager of the store.

Peter Skinner, Toronto, speeding, $20 and costs, charge laid by Provincial Constable Alex Ferguson, Leo A. Rudolph, Toronto, speeding, $15 and costs, charge laid by Constable Ferguson.

Norman A. Turney, Toronto, speeding, $15 and costs, charge laid by Constable Ferguson.

Arthur E. Higgins, Toronto, speeding, $15 and costs, charge laid by Constable Ferguson.

Walter Newton, Mimico, speeding, $15 and costs, charge laid by Constable Ferguson.

Harold E. Woolnough, Toronto, speeding, $8 and costs, charge laid by Constable Fisher Dunham, Aurora.

E. F. Mulqueen, Toronto, speeding, $8 and costs, charge laid by Constable Dunham.

S. Lawrence Rawlinson, Toronto, speeding, $12 and costs, charge laid by Constable Dunham.

Wm. Norman McLeod, Toronto, speeding, $8 and costs, charge laid by Constable Dunham.

Lula E. Ross, Toronto, speeding, $10 and costs, charge laid by Constable Dunham.

May Hobbirk, Toronto, speeding, $8 and costs, charge laid by Constable Vern Williams.

POLICE COURT Gets 6 Months And $500 Fine

A fine of $500 and costs plus a jail sentence of six months was the penalty imposed on Thomas E. Foster, East Gwillimbury township, for possession of illegal spirits, by Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe in police court here on Tuesday. In default of payment of the fine another six months in jail must be served. A gallon jug of swamp whiskey was also ordered to be confiscated.

Defence counsel J. G. Edison served notice of an appeal to the magistrate. Foster will be held in custody till bail is set by the county court in Toronto.

"On Sept. 25 at 3 a. m. I went along with an operator to Foster's house," testified Constable W. R. Casement, Richmond Hill. "I saw Foster outside his house and then he went across the road to some bushes and brought back a gallon jar of swamp whiskey to our car. I arranged to go back and pay for it but no price was set. We immediately drove back to where Constable Watt and Constable Nichol, R. C. M. P., were waiting. Constable Nichol took possession of the whiskey and then we went back to the accused's and Constable Nichol placed Foster under arrest."

At this point the jug of swamp whiskey was entered as an exhibit. "Was it raining?" questioned defence counsel.

"No, it was early in the morning," answered Constable Casement.

"You were in the car with another person weren't you?"

"Yes."

"Who was that?"

"I object to that question," stated N. L. Mathews, K. C., crown attorney. "As a matter of public policy the name of the operator should not be made public."

"I have never heard of such a thing," answered Mr. Edison.

"I can see no harm in answering the question," stated the magistrate.

"Who was that man?" again asked defence counsel.

"He was a man by the name of Scott." "What is his first name?" "I don't know."

"When did you meet him?" "That night. Constable Watt introduced him to me."

"Where were the other officers when you went to Foster's?"

"Constables Nichol and Watt were waiting in the park."

"How far is Mr. Foster's house from the road?" asked Mr. Edison.

"About 50 or 75 feet," stated Constable Casement.

"Who drove the car to Foster's?"

"The operator drove Constable Watt's car there."

"Did your car stop at the road?"

"Yes."

"Did you get out of the car?"

"No, the operator got out but didn't go into the house and I stayed in the car."

"Could you hear the operator talking to Foster?"

"It is possible that the operator might have put the jug in the car instead of Foster?"

"Where did you give the jug to Constable Nichol?"

"It was transferred to his car at the park and when it was brought to the police office here the seal of seizure and labels were placed on it in my presence," answered Constable Casement.

"Did you ever see the accused with the bottle?" asked Mr. Mathews.

"Yes, I saw him bring the bottle from the opposite side of the road."

"Did the operator go with Foster to get the bottle?"

"No."

Constable Nichol testified that after the jug of spirits was placed in his car he went to Foster's accompanied by Constables Watt, Casement, and Windsor. "I found him at the back of the house and Casement identified him as the man who had produced the spirits in question, then I arrested the accused," the constable stated.

"Foster went in to change his clothes and then he came to Newmarket, where the seizure labels, initials, etc., were placed on the jug, after which I took the accused to Toronto and lodged him in the jail," said the constable.

"A sample of the whiskey was taken out, placed in a pint jar, and sent to the dominion analyst. Certificate of analysis showed that the whiskey tested 69.8% proof spirits."

"Then Constable Casement was wrong in saying your car with the jug went right back to Newmarket?" asked Mr. Edison. "Yes."

"Who was present when the seals were placed on the bottle?"

"Constables Watt, Sloss, Casement, and myself."

"Was this done in the presence of the accused?"

"Yes."

"Why didn't you say that?"

"I was only thinking the police, and not the accused, as he was present all the time."

"Then what happened to the bottle?"

"It was locked in the back of my car and then removed to my trunk, where it was again locked in until I opened it the following morning and removed a sample," answered Constable Nichol.

"Can you say how the seal on top of the sample in the pint jar got out in two?"

"No."

The magistrate then asked for the defence.

Mr. Edison told the magistrate that he did not wish to offer any defence evidence and he moved for dismissal on a number of grounds.

"Constable Casement's evidence is not the kind of evidence to be relied on, as he changed his story several times," stated Mr. Edison.

"The constable never got out of the car, driven by a man he never knew before. I suggest that the operator should have been here and questioned by me, as the liquor might have been in his possession. Secondly, the seal that is broken on the sample has not been identified. I suggest that this is not official, as another seal is always placed over the broken seal."

"The certificate shows that the seal was not broken when it was received at Ottawa," stated the magistrate.

"That doesn't say who broke it afterward," stated Mr. Edison.

"I am quite satisfied that the crown have made out a case," stated Magistrate Woodliffe. "I am quite safe in saying that the constable is not experienced in giving evidence, but he told us the facts and I find the accused guilty of the charge."

"In November, 1936, the accused was convicted by Magistrate Keith of keeping a still, and in January, 1937, an appeal against the sentence was dismissed," stated Mr. Mathews.

"I object to the record of the former conviction being used, as the clerk of the other court is not here," said Mr. Edison.

"I'll accept the record of the former conviction, as I was present in the county court at the time when Magistrate Keith imposed the penalty," stated the magistrate.

A charge of theft of three purses laid against an Aurora girl and a Richmond Hill youth was adjourned one week.

Defence counsel asked for an adjournment of one week for Elisha Charles, Island Grove, charged with having liquor in an illegal place. Bail was set at $300 when Charles appeared in county court last Saturday.

KESWICK Mark 50 Years' Work In China

The choir of the United church will attend the anniversary service at Virginia United church Sunday evening.

The Mission Band will hold a tea with short program on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 29, to which all are invited.

Mrs. O. M. King, second vice-president of the W. M. S., presided at a splendidly arranged meeting on Tuesday. This was also the autumn thank offering meeting—a celebration of 50 years of missionary work in Honan.

The meeting was enjoyed by the fine number in attendance. Mrs. King was assisted in the program of the afternoon by Mrs. Perry Winch, Mrs. Pedlar, Mrs. W. E. Morton, Mrs. C. Willoughby, Miss Joy Marritt and Mrs. William Vall. Several items were discussed in the business period conducted by the president and it was decided that the W. M. S. and the Missionary and Maintenance department would hold a combined social evening on Wednesday, Nov. 9, to which all members of the congregation are invited.

Lorne Lee Appointed As Town's Solicitor

Ex-Finance Chairman Congratulated; C. E. Sparks Will Fill Place

Three applications for the position of town solicitor were received by the council on Monday night. Applicants were C. K. Case, Lorne C. Lee, and Charles B. K. Kirk.

A proposal by Councillor George Baldwin that Ex-Councillor Lee be given the appointment was carried unanimously. "With the appointment go my best wishes and heartiest congratulations for a successful career as town solicitor," said Mayor Dr. C. R. Boulding.

The resignation of Mr. Lee from council had previously been accepted with regret and with a warm expression of appreciation for his services in the town's interest.

The post of chairman of the finance committee, left vacant by Mr. Lee's resignation, was filled by Councillor C. E. Sparks for the balance of the year. Salary for the town solicitor was set at $270 yearly, the same amount as had been paid to the

COUNCIL THANKS LADIES LADIES THANK COUNCIL

Representing the committee that sponsored the "old girls" tea during the town's jubilee celebration, Miss E. Lemon and Mrs. N. Eade appeared before council on Monday evening.

"We came to express our sincere gratitude to the council and town employees for the help given in preparation for the old girls' tea," Miss Lemon stated.

"I'm sure that among the jubilee festivities the efforts of the ladies stood out," Mayor Dr. C. R. Boulding replied. "I wish we had more ladies on the jubilee committee."

Reeve J. A. Knowles also expressed his appreciation of the work done by the ladies during the celebration.

previous holder of the position since 1933. Before that it had been $300, it was pointed out, but in common with other town salaries, it had been reduced by ten per cent.

ABOUT TOWN

VIVIAN BUILDS

To confound the critics who have voiced their belief that we don't read The Era, we draw attention to the following excerpt from the Vivian news of last week:

"During the weekend, Vivian has been the scene of great activities. The long talked-of and hoped-for church is the magnet, and not only the citizens of this community, but volunteers from Toronto and other parts are helping in the work."

"On Monday every available man was on the job and before many Sundays pass they hope to be in the new church building, when they can accommodate more people."

To our minds, the two paragraphs quoted above contain one of the best "stories" of the year. Packed to the last consonant with drama and thrills... the story that, in this daze and age, some folk still find their religion worth working for.

We would like to read more of such stories. We could wish that everybody with a leaning toward Christian thinking and living could be given hammer and saw, and the privilege of shaping out his own church.

When a man takes a few precious hours away from the harvest and pours his sweat, instead, over the rising beams of his own worshipping place, he does well. The sweat will annoint the church for him, we think, more sweetly than would any other gift.

When a church echoes with the self-imposed labor of its members, as one does in Vivian this week, the sound of an expensive organ is not needed. Backs bent with such toil present the most sincere attitude of prayer. Members of the new Vivian church will need seek neither church "atmosphere" nor preaching "dramatics" to obtain better Christian teaching.

We would refer to the pastor of the new Vivian church, Mr. Rowan, all those who feel they are making a sacrifice when they tear themselves away from their radios long enough to be present at the Sunday evening services. We imagine Mr. Rowan can tell them a few things.

MR. LEE CAN SMILE

That little bit of sleight-of-hand at the council on Monday night worked out all right. They are short one councillor but they pulled a brand-new town solicitor out of the hat.

The appointment of Lorne C. Lee as town solicitor was, we think, a good one. Mr. Lee, in his four years as councillor, learned a lot concerning town affairs and the fact that he lives in and does business in Aurora gives him a definite interest in the town's welfare.

We are not worrying about Mr. Lee's ability to fill his new position, but we are worrying about the council's ability to fill Mr. Lee's position on the council. Mr. Lee, we might remind you, is or was the chairman of the finance committee.

The chairman of the finance committee, has, to our mind, one of the nastiest jobs on the council, and one that does not tend to make the job-holder popular. He gets a good deal of the blame for the tax rate—and who ever heard of a popular tax rate?

But if he tries to save money for the town, he draws not praise, but curses upon his head. He has the unpleasant job of saying "Halt!" to plans that would give Aurora super-side-walks, brighter lights or better water.

Those who ask the council for favors in the way of grants may often find Mr. Lee a stumbling block. And those whose bills to the council are high or unusual in any way are apt to find them held up for a month, while Mr. Lee and his cohorts look it over. All of which does not make for popularity. For the people who want the tax rate lowered most are often those who kick hardest when the economizing affects them.

We want our sidewalk fixed and we want a grant for the Aurora Yacht Club, and we want a lower tax rate. What happens? We fail to get the grant for the yacht club and boy-oh-boy we'll fix that guy Lee when the elections come around.

That, dear friends, is the sort of thing that ages finance committee chairmen. It's a fine tribute to Lorne C. that he managed to get re-elected last year. It's also a tribute to the common sense of the electors.

And when we meet Mr. Lee on the streets these days, if we're not mistaken, there's a mischievous twinkle in his eye. He's probably thinking of the man who will have to fill his shoes as finance chairman. For whoever fills his shoes will get his toes stepped on.

Speaker Sees Challenge In Collingwood Liquor Store

Mrs. T. R. White Speaks To Members Of Aurora W. C. T. U.

"The W. C. T. U. has blazed the trail for temperance legislation," Mrs. T. R. White, Heathcote, told the Aurora W.C.T.U. on Tuesday afternoon. "They blazed it on their knees. We have rejoiced in the victories that have been won, and local option in some districts has been sustained."

"But when I think of Collingwood I am not so pleased. I never remember a bar having been in Collingwood, but now I see a beautifully decorated store and a huge warehouse. It is disheartening. We know there is a determined effort to break down the present law. It is a strong challenge to us."

"Wherever a beer parlor stands today, it affects the boys and girls of today and tomorrow," Mrs. White declared. "With the child lies the future of the race. Liquor is the greatest factor in leading young folk into delinquency. It is contributing largely to unemployment and to poverty. It has been called the most degrading of evils."

"Alcohol is not a food or a stimulant. It is a narcotic of the most poisonous form. The saloon is the nursery of crime," the speaker said.

"The unfortunate part of cocktail drinking is that 90 per cent of the drinkers are married women," Mrs. White stated.

"The beverage rooms must go because of the people who spend time and money there," she said. "I have not been in one, but I have had them described to me, and they must go. Beer is the worst because so much of it is drunk that a larger percentage of alcohol is drunk in this way."

Juvenile Hockey May Get Aid From Aurora Juniors

Juvenile Group May Be Outcome, Richmond Hill Suggests

Revival of juvenile hockey in Aurora was seen as a possibility this year, as a result of discussion at the meeting of the junior hockey club on Tuesday night.

The Lions Club of Richmond Hill is reported to be getting behind hockey in that town this year, and it is likely that a juvenile team or teams will be the outcome. Richmond Hill have asked the Aurora club if it will co-operate by handling a juvenile squad in addition to the juniors.

The Aurora meeting was in favor of co-operating in this way with Richmond Hill, and the matter will be further discussed by the Hill men at a meeting being held by them on Thursday night of this week, and considered again at the Aurora club's meeting on Monday night.

Juvenile hockey would strengthen the junior squad rather than weaken it, it was felt by the meeting, and would provide early training that would be beneficial to the youngsters. Newmarket might also be persuaded to put a juvenile team on ice, as well as their intermediate squad, sponsors of the plan feel.

Bert Tunney, who has displayed considerable interest in the juvenile division in past years, may be persuaded to take an interest in juvenile hockey this year, it is believed.

Firemen Attend To Two Blazes Elwood Davis Attends To Three

Fireman Learns Of Fire At Home While Out With Brigade

Aurora firefighters found a fire conveniently close to headquarters on Thursday evening, when their supper were interrupted to answer a call from the home of Howard Bunn on Mosley St., a short distance from the fire hall.

The trouble was caused by a chimney fire which was extinguished without much trouble or loss.

Another fire, at 1:50 p.m. on Friday, placed one fireman at least in a difficult position. Elwood Davis, who, with his fellow-members in the brigade, answered a call to Jack Dodd's on Yonge St., had his firefighting interrupted by a message to the effect that there was a bit of a blaze at his own place of business.

Hurrying home he found that an auto had short-circuited and

All-Stars Trim Orcharders, 4-2

One of the fastest football games of the season took place in the arena on Tuesday night when a team selected from the Fleury orchard apple-pickers met an all-star Aurora squad.

The visitors showed plenty of speed and made an interesting game of it, though the town all-stars took the decision, 4-2. The only penalties of the game were issued when Bob Bell and Bob Bewille tangled in the third period.

Teams—All-Stars: Bill Hadfield, Walt Long, Len Holman, Ray White, Art White, K. McDonald, Bob Bell, Gord Long. Orcharders: Wes Henney, Roy Fierheller, Bill Henderson, Marshall Yakes, Horace Marton, Bill Thompson, Bob Benville, Herbert Hart.

"I am sure you have picked a fine bunch of officers," Reeve J. A. Knowles said. "We have a good rink and a good number of loyal citizens and I think you will have a very successful year."

The executive will meet again on Monday night, it was decided, to plan the pre-season campaign.

Animals Better Fed Than Humans, W.I. Speaker Says

District Institutes Gather At Vaudorf For Combined Meeting

"Seventy to 75 per cent of ills are caused through wrong feeding," Miss Alberta Smith, of Glanford, told a combined meeting of the Vaudorf, Gormley, Pine Orchard and Aurora Women's Institutes, held at Vaudorf on Tuesday. More care was taken in animal nutrition than in human feeding, she stated.

"Vegetables should be cooked as quickly as possible," the speaker said. "They should be cooked in as little water as possible. Don't pour 40 per cent of the goodness down the sink."

In grandmother's day, the cook used what she had, the speaker declared. Modern housewives are too hurried to prepare menus, she said, and they use too much packaged goods. Miss Smith is a lecturer for the institute branch of the department of agriculture. "If we filled a man up, that was all that was necessary, we used to think. But now we know that to keep him good-natured we must fill him up properly," said the district president, Mrs. Ralph Willis.

A social hour was enjoyed following the address.

GOLFERS WILL COMPETE WITH DINNER AS STAKE

K. Davis Named Tennis Champion

Play for the senior men's championship of the Aurora tennis club last week resulted in Keith Davis winning the Dr. C. R. Boulding trophy for the title.

He had plenty of competition, however, from "Wink" Barnard, who took two of the five final sets.

In the semi-finals Barnard had beaten Lees Owrnan, 6-3, 3-6, 6-2, and Davis had defeated Keith Nesbitt, 6-4, 6-4.

This weekend the ladies will play for the women's championship and the Dr. C. J. Devins trophy.

Council Prefers Modern Desk To Old-Fashioned Office Stool

Clerk's Assistant Should Sit Down — Not Up, Council Rules

A new desk for the town clerk's assistant resulted in councillors leaving the council chamber on Monday night and going into the clerk's office on a tour of inspection. Doubt had been expressed that the office had room for another desk.

"Would it not be satisfactory to buy a high stool at the high desk already in the office?" Councillor L. C. Lee asked.

"A stool would not be suitable," Councillor L. K. Farr stated.

A double desk was suggested for the use of the town clerk and his assistant, but some of the councillors felt that if both were using the large ledgers at the same time the double desk would not do.

"I think there is room for both desks," the mayor said. "Both men needn't work at the large books at the same time."

After investigating the matter the council agreed and Mr. Farr was given the job of seeing if a second-hand desk could be purchased in Toronto.

WILL HOLD SHOWER

A handkerchief and white elephant shower will be held at Trinity Hall on Tuesday in preparation for the coming Anglican bazaar.

Paid-in-advance is a guarantee to advertisers that every copy is read.

The scene was a Hollywood film-studio. Thousands of "extras," attired as French revolutionaries storming the Bastille, filled the middle distance.

In the foreground, on a rostrum, was the director, bawling through a megaphone: "We're going to do this over and over again—until the guy shouting 'whoopie' decides to co-operate."

Foundry, Shoemakers Grab Wins In Monday Football

Paul Knowles Gets All The Goals When Town Team Wins

The town football team blanked the foundry players, 3-0, in the arena on Thursday night of last week. After a fast, though scoreless, first period, Paul Knowles broke away to score twice.

The foundry pressed hard in the following periods but failed to tally. They also failed to cover the fleet-footed Paul Knowles and he came through with his third goal of the game. In the second game of the football double-dipper the shoemakers and tanners battled it out to a 2-2 draw. Sisman's scored first when "Hank" Clubine booted one into the tannery goal in the initial period.

In the second period, Elmer Yates, of the tannery team, tied the score with a well-placed kick. Sisman's again took the lead in the third period, with Cy Holman getting the credit.

With only a minute of playing time to go, Will White saved the tannery from defeat with the tying kick.

On Monday night the foundry redeemed itself and trounced the tannery team by 4-2. The shoemakers also got a win on Monday, when they earned a 2-1 edge over the town team.

H. Folliott Wins Five-Mile Race

Taking advantage of a favorable break in the weather on Tuesday afternoon, 55 lads from the Aurora high school entered in the five-mile cross-country race, with a high percentage of the entrants finishing in good style.

Howard Folliott, senior champion at the high school field day, was first across the finishing line. In second place was J. Hughes, while Frank McGuire finished in third spot.

KING Present Gift To King Bank Head

On Tuesday evening a presentation was held at the home of Dr. Pinkerton in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Phillips, who are leaving King to take over the management of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Plattsville.

A short program was arranged and consisted of games, community singing and a few musical numbers by Mrs. Thomas Proctor of Portageville and Miss Muriel Thorpe.

The Rev. Mr. Worrell had charge of the games and was chairman of the evening. The departing couple were given a beautiful tea wagon. Mrs. D. Davis gave the address and Mrs. T. Proctor and Miss Muriel Thorpe presented the gift. Refreshments were enjoyed by all.

Lasky United church held their Sunday-school anniversary services on Sunday. Rev. Mr. Stanway, a missionary from West China, was the guest speaker for both services. The local choir was in attendance for the morning service and Miss Ruth Baldwin sang a solo. Maple United church choir assisted at night.

Miss Childs of Toronto sang two beautifully appropriate solos accompanying herself on the guitar. The first one was entitled "Jesus is always there," and the other was "The Stranger of Galilee."

That these services are helpful and appreciated is proven by the large crowds that attend each Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Tennyson of Gray, Sask., motored home to Ontario a week ago, and are at Mr. Tennyson's parental home, with Mr. and Mrs. John Wade. They plan to spend the winter in Ontario.

Mr. Hiram A. Clark had a birthday last Wednesday. He likes to joke about his age and as Miss Tinline was 91 years old on Monday, he says she is two days older than he is. Hiram is well-known in North York and takes long walks daily for the good of his health, and is an active worker.

One evening he was out to dinner. The guest sitting next to him, wishing to attract his attention, touched his sleeve.

Absently, the professor picked up a bone from his plate and, without turning his head, held it out to her and said: "Oh, don't worry so. Take this on the mat and eat it."

A young couple, who had just married, received many gifts after establishing their home in a suburb. One morning they received two theatre tickets, with a note which read: "Guess who sent these."

On the appointed evening they went to the theatre, returning very late. To their astonishment, everything of any value in the house had been carried away.
On a table in the dining-room they found this note: "Now you know."

THE FURROW'S END

BY LEONARD HARMAN

"Do you know what I was thinking about as I sat at the ploughman's banquet the other night?" asked a man who has made considerable contribution to the betterment of rural Ontario. "I was just wondering what the results would be if a fellow could take a test of the seed that all these ploughmen are going to sow next spring on their well ploughed land."

Only the other day I was driving along through part of another county of southern Ontario.
"Look at that for good ploughing," said my companion. "But look at the stubble," I replied.
The ploughed land was a thing of beauty, but the unploughed stubble bore evidence of more weeds than grain. And there was a fair chance that the field was being so very well ploughed that another year it might grow still more weeds and still less grain.

The man who raised the question about the ploughmen's seed believes very thoroughly in the values of good ploughing. But ploughing, like patriotism, is not enough. Of course it is an art in itself. In the words of a writer of long ago: "In the straightness of his furrow is the farmer's prayer." But with the prayer the farmer's worship is not complete.
There is all the range of works in production. There is the preparation of a valuable market product or a number of products.

There is a question of cost of production and the related one of marketing at a fair price. There is the matter of purchasing for farm and home. There are all the choices that are to be made about home and home life and the spending of one's time. All these things enter into rural life and living.

It is so easy for us to run away with the idea that if one achieves good ploughing all else will follow. I am not entirely convinced that there is as much relation between the straightness of a man's furrow and the straightness of his business and social life as promoters of ploughing matches would have us believe. It does not follow that excellence in one field of endeavor is carried over into another. The hand may be steady and the eye alert yet the heart may not be right. And we must require of ourselves not merely conformity to recognized principles of honest relations but a community effort which identifies the welfare of others with our welfare.

Oh yes! we started about ploughing. And I was going to say that we need broad education which leads rural people to not only plough better but to become better farmers and better citizens.

Garden Surprises

By DELPHINIUM

Usually those of us who work our own gardens know just what to expect in the way of crops.
Last week we were told of some surprises that came to two of our King families. The Gellatlys, having only a small garden at the home, planted potatoes on a part of Mrs. Wm. Crossley's land.
This strip was at the south end of the long lot. The potatoes had been cultivated all right, but a mixture of other crops grew also, and when the Gellatlys visited their potato patch they thought they were seeing things.

There were citrons, pepper squash and tomatoes, red and yellow, in abundance, fifty large citrons and as many more small ones, a couple of bushels of pepper squash, and tomatoes everywhere. Mrs. Gellatly says sow your seed in the compost heap!
When this was told to Mrs.
Ross Walker, she had a story of another kind to tell. In the spring they had bought a whole flat of plants. Peppers—they expected—when peppers were needed for pickles. Well, they were the quickest peppers—they were bushes. They were not peppers, but ground cherries. Well, ground cherries make good peppers, and there were baskets full of them. So that was another surprise.

Do you know beans? When harvesting my field beans, I often think of "some yielded 30 fold, some 60 and some 100 fold," and I choose a few plants, strip off the pods, and count the beans.
The Boston beans, a large white round bean, most delicious in soup—yield only a medium crop, 60 or 70 as an average, but an occasional plant yielded a hundred and over beans. And that number of beans would make a good plate of soup. The small white field beans used for baked beans, or boiled, or soup, yield a higher average. When harvesting this crop, I picked out a few plants and tested them. The first plant yielded 54 pods, containing 300 beans. The second plant of 37 pods produced 160 beans, the third of 34 pods, 164 beans, making a total of 624 beans—half a bowl full, enough for a good bean course for a dinner, grown from 3 beans. Four more plants produced 206, 204, 282 and 280 beans, a total of 972—and filled the bowl!

"NO THANK YOU!"
SAY PRINCESSES

When the three sisters of King Zog of Albania were recently visiting in the United States, they were taken, of course, to see
New York's places of interest.
While going to get the grand view from the top of the Empire State Building, says the International News Service, the young visitors were invited by a prominent politician to drop into the bar in that building and have a drink with him. Somewhat to his surprise, Princesses Myzele, Rubie and Maxide, declined the invitation, saying it was against their religion to drink.

"What kind of a religion says you cannot drink?" asked their would-be host.
"The Mohammedan," was the calm reply of the royal visitors.
And now for Sonja Henle's pluck. We all love to see her in the movies and perhaps lots of us envy her too. Here is one of her experiences:

Recently a publicity agent of the Tobacco Trust went to her and said: "Miss Henle, we want your endorsement of our brand of cigarettes. You don't have to put one in your mouth—but we will publish your picture and pay you $2,500."

And what did this clean, brave, young woman say? Here it is:
"I don't smoke. I won't take your $2,500. I am ashamed of women who smoke. It is a disgraceful, filthy, degenerate habit.
Good-bye."

There is no charge for birth, cost 50 cents.

"MEN AT WORK!"

The most cheerful sign on the road

"MEN AT WORK" is an encouraging, cheerful sign upon the highway.

It is the happiest sign on the business highway too.
Business enterprise, making wise use of banking service, is the mainspring of employment.

The contractor responsible for that "Men at Work" sign gets the job of building that stretch of highway by being the lowest responsible tenderer.

Not always does he have the ready money to buy all the materials, pay wages and build it out of his own resources.
He goes to the bank and, having assets and a good reputation, he negotiates such advances as he may need.

He orders materials, sets men to work. As the job proceeds, engineers' certificates enable him to collect from those with whom he contracted, and the work goes on.

The highway finished, the bank is repaid. Such repayments enable the bank to supply credit to other responsible borrowers.

A manufacturer gets a large order, with an early time limit for delivery. With only a hundred men, his factory cannot turn out the articles within the time required. With more men he can do it—but he lacks sufficient cash.

Operating his factory, as a going concern, with a profitable order and having a reputation for integrity, he asks the bank to lend him what he needs to pay wages.

The bank makes him a loan.
He takes on more men. They get wages. The goods are turned out, delivered and paid for. The manufacturer repays the bank with the agreed interest.

He has his profit and can spend some money developing new business to keep his men employed.

How does a bank make these advances—where does the money come from?
